Effective August 1, 2004, municipal courts will hold hearings relating to a person's refusal to provide a breath, blood or urine sample, under the implied consent law (s.343.305). This applies to refusals committed on or after August 1, 2004, but does not preclude the counting of previous suspensions, revocations, or convictions for purposes of determining the period that a person's operating privilege is revoked.
